PHIL BURRESS

Phil Burress has been a part of Citizens for Community Values since its inception in 1983. CCV is officially associated with Family Research Council, American Family Association, and Focus on the Family, as its Ohio Family Policy Council. Phil held the positions of Assistant to the President and Treasurer and served as a member of the Board of Directors before accepting the position of President in 1991. He has served in that capacity continuously since that time.

Prior to devoting himself full-time to pro-family ministry, Phil’s employment background was varied. In each position held, skills were being developed that eventually would enable him to be more effective in his role as champion of family values.

His management, administrative and people skills were developed in part as a long-distance, over-the-road truck driver, as an adjunct instructor at Cincinnati State College and as the independent owner of his own landscaping and irrigation company. For five years Phil served as district chairman for the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks. The skills that he developed there as a union negotiator and organizer definitely have been put to use in establishing working relationships with prosecutors, politicians and law enforcement officials.

An avid golfer, Phil also has found time to design and construct golf courses and still serves as a panelist rating golf courses for Golf Digest magazine.

Phil’s effectiveness at CCV has brought him national recognition as a leader in the fight to establish high community standards. He has been the recipient of a national award from the Family Research Council’s 2004 Family Faith & Freedom Citation, Religious Alliance Against Pornography, Citizens Leader Award for Focus on the Family, the Washington Times Foundation National Service Award, and an award from the National Coalition for the Protection of Children and Families.

Additionally, Phil’s reputation has placed him in demand as a board member and organizer of numerous other pro-family efforts. He has served as a trustee on the Clermont County Library Board for six years and as chairman of Cincinnati’s Equal Rights not Special Rights organization. In 2004, he served as chairman of the Ohio Campaign to Protect Marriage, the organization that led the campaign that resulted in amending Ohio’s constitution to confirm the truth of marriage as the union of one man and one woman. Currently he is Coordinator of the Ohio Pro-Family Forum, and two National Pro-Family Forums; is an executive member of the Arlington Group, a national coalition of pro-family leaders formed to coordinate efforts to promote a Marriage Protection Amendment; and serves on the board of Family Research Council Action in Washington, DC.

His knowledge of the pro-family issues and his robust enthusiasm have led Phil to hundreds of appearances on talk shows including World News Tonight, Larry King Live, MSNBC, Good Morning America and CNBC, Fox News, Court-TV and appeared in major publications such as New York Times, Boston Globe, LA Times, Time Magazine, World Magazine and USA Today.

Phil’s wife, Vickie also is a recognized leader in the pro-family arena and currently works with the Victims of Pornography campaign and serves as founder and chairman of the American Family Association of Indiana. Together, Phil and Vickie have presented seminars across the country to assist communities in grassroots efforts to stop the harmful effects of pornography, sexually oriented businesses, and material harmful to children, the homosexual agenda and the importance of citizens voting.

Employment- CEO and President, Enough Is Enough® (EIE), a national non-partisan, secular, non-profit organization whose mission is to make the Internet safer for children and families; Enough Is Enough® celebrated its twenty year anniversary in 2012.

Works- In 1994, she pioneered the Internet safety issue and emerged as the national voice for the prevention of Internet-initiated sexual exploitation of children. She led EIE’s development of a three-pronged strategy of the public, the technology industry and legal community sharing the responsibility to protect children online, adopted by industry and governments worldwide. She proposed and advocated key bi-partisan legislation in the nineties to protect children from Internet pornography, sexual predators and other dangers. (Communications Decency Act, Child Online Protection Act, Children’s Internet Protection Act, Child Pornography Prevention Act); led the 1997 adoption of the Internet industry “ZERO Tolerance” policy against child pornography, endorsed by the White House and DOJ; Executive Producer and Host of EIE’s Internet Safety 101® DVD series (3 Telly Awards), Creator/Author/Producers of EIE’s Internet Safety 101® Multimedia Program (DVD series/Workbook & Resource Guide/ Rules ‘N Tools® booklet) in partnership with U.S. Department of Justice; Author, Kids Online, Protecting Your Children In Cyberspace (Baker Books,1998); Story co-writer, Touched By an Angel TV Series (2000 Season Finale) which brought the message of online sexual predators and Internet safety to primetime television and won Neilson ratings in its time slot during May sweeps. Creator of www.enough.org, www.internetsafety101.org, www.friendlywifi.org.

Recent Awards- The Professional Women in Advocacy 2014 Excellence In Advocacy Award for “Veteran Practitioner”; The Women in Technology 2013 Leadership Award; 2012 Emmy Award as Executive Producer/Producer of The PBS/EIE Internet Safety 101® Television Series (2012); Emmy nomination in the Program Host/Moderator category.

JUDITH REISMAN, Ph.D.

Dr. Judith Reisman brings a lifetime of knowledge and research to the law school as Research Professor. A lecturer popular for her expertise in Media Forensics, she is also a former consultant to four U.S. Department of Justice administrations, the U.S. Department of Education, as well as the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. She has been engaged in a lifelong battle against pornography and since 1977 has fervently exposed the fraudulent sex science of Dr. Alfred Kinsey.

Dr. Reisman has lectured at universities such as Princeton, Notre Dame, Georgetown, and Pepperdine; and internationally at University of Jerusalem, University of Haifa, and Tel Aviv University. She has also lectured at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, the Rutherford Institute, the Council for National Policy, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the United States Air Force Academy among many other notable institutions.

No stranger to the world of academia, in the early to mid 1980s, Dr. Reisman was Associate Professor at the University of Haifa, Israel; Research Full Professor, The American University; and then in 1990, she was part of the adjunct faculty of George Mason University.

Dr. Reisman has authored many books and articles and has been cited in many scholarly works. Among her many publications is Sexual Sabotage, 2010; Kinsey: Crime and Consequences, 1998 and 2000; and Soft Porn Plays Hardball, 1991. She has been an expert witness in many court, military, and civic hearings concerning pornography, homosexuality, sexual harassment, and media issues. Her works have been referenced in many lower court cases and the following United States Supreme Court cases: Oakes v. Massachusetts (1989) and Osborne v. Ohio (1989). They have been instrumental in child protection legislation such as HR 2749 (Washington, D.C., 1995), The Child Protection and Ethics in Education Act.

Dr. Reisman holds two academic degrees in Communications, both from Case Western Reserve University.

JUDITH REISMAN, Ph.D.
ALAN SEARS

Alan Sears serves as President, CEO, and General Counsel of Alliance Defending Freedom (ADF). He leads ADF efforts through a comprehensive legal strategy that includes training, funding, and legal advocacy that have resulted in various important roles in 47 victories at the U.S. Supreme Court, including Town of Greece v. Galloway and Conestoga Wood Specialties v. Burwell in the 2013-2014 term, and Reed v. Gilbert in the 2014-2015 term. ADF attorneys have won more than three out of four cases in which they have participated. Under his leadership, ADF has funded nearly 2,800 grants and legal projects for allied lawyers and organizations, and ADF attorneys have successfully defended marriage as the union between one man and one woman in 50 cases nationwide.

Since the launch of ADF in 1994, Sears has provided strategic leadership in the training of 1,845 lawyers from 44 countries through the one-of-a-kind Alliance Defending Freedom Legal Academy, which is designed to equip attorneys to more effectively defend religious liberty, the sanctity of life, marriage and family. These attorneys have reported more than $186 million in pro-bono/dedicated time.

Sears' visionary efforts have also resulted in the graduation of more than 1,650 outstanding law students — representing 225 schools and more than 20 countries — from the world-class Blackstone Legal Fellowship leadership training program. This in-depth summer internship program helps equip these students to assume leadership positions to shape the future of law and culture across the globe.

Sears earned his Juris Doctor from Louis D. Brandeis School of Law. While serving in numerous positions within the Reagan and Bush Administrations, he worked for the Department of Justice under Attorneys General William French Smith and Edwin Meese III, including service as an Assistant U.S. Attorney and Chief of the Criminal Section. Sears was appointed as Director of the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography and served as Associate Solicitor with the Department of Interior under Secretary Donald Hodel. A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Sears has continued his education with professional instruction at Stanford University Graduate School of Business, Harvard Law School, Harvard Business School, and Pepperdine University.

Practicing law for four decades, Sears is member in good standing with the American, Arizona, California, District of Columbia (inactive), and Kentucky Bar Associations. He has helped fashion the language for numerous state and federal laws and has testified before committees of the U.S. House and Senate, state legislatures, and many local governments and commissions. Legislators in 20 states have adopted his legislative recommendations. Sears has assisted legislators and law enforcement officials from many countries and has spoken before committees of the British Parliament and the Vatican.

Sears' numerous media appearances include television interview and features on The Today Show, Nightline, CNN, Fox News, C-SPAN, The O’Reilly Factor, Oprah, and The Lou Dobbs Show. He has been a radio guest on various programs, including The Laura Ingraham Show, National Public Radio, The Hugh Hewitt Show, and The Dennis Prager Show. Sears has been extensively covered in national print media, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, Associated Press, The Washington Times, The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, The Arizona Republic, and the National Catholic Register. He has co-authored several books, including The Homosexual Agenda: Exposing the Principal Threat to Religious Freedom Today and The ACLU vs. America, both with Craig Osten. His most recent books are In Justice and Trial and Error.
ERNEIE ALLEN
Founder, Former President and CEO; National Center for Missing & Exploited Children and International Centre for Missing & Exploited Children

The Dark Side of the Internet and the Exploitation of Children

The Internet has revolutionized the way we live, work and play. Yet, there is a dark side. Child pornography and child exploitation have exploded. Human trafficking has moved from the streets to the Internet. A new anonymous “Deep Web” has emerged, utilized by traffickers, pedophiles, and others. The developing brains of children are being bombarded with extreme pornography. Unless we better protect our children, we will see future generations of damaged adults and great societal harm.

International Expert in Child Protection, Public Private Partnerships and the Dark Side of the Internet, Ernie Allen is a global expert on the issues of child abduction, sexual exploitation, sexual violence, human trafficking, public-private partnerships, and the digital economy. He currently serves on several corporate boards and is an advisor to governments, law enforcement, technology companies, international and American nonprofit organizations. Earlier this year he was appointed by the British government as Chairman of the International Advisory Board for UK Prime Minister David Cameron’s global initiative to combat online child abuse and exploitation. He frequently speaks to global audiences on these issues and is in demand as a motivational speaker.

Mr. Allen was founder, first Chairman, and then President and CEO of the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children where he established the national CyberTipline for reporting sexual exploitation and helped the U.S. Marshals track down 100,000 fugitive sex offenders. He created the national Missing Children’s hotline; brought age progression and forensic services to law enforcement, and provided training for more than 300,000 police officers. During his tenure more than 180,000 missing children were recovered and the recovery rate of missing children increased from 62% to 97%.

To extend the effort to protect children globally, he founded the International Centre for Missing & Exploited Children and served simultaneously as its President and CEO. He built a global missing children’s network that included 23 nations, trained law enforcement in 121 countries, and worked with parliaments to enact new laws on child pornography in 100 countries. He brought global attention to the risks of unregulated virtual currencies and the anonymous “Deep Web” and led efforts to implement new policies worldwide.

He also created coalitions and led efforts to work with the world’s leading financial institutions to reduce commercial child pornography from a $30 billion industry to virtually zero; to work with leading technology companies to address child victimization; and to work with major pharmaceutical companies to address child sexual exploitation as a public health crisis.

Mr. Allen’s work has been widely recognized and he is the author of numerous articles and book chapters.

SOPHIE ANDAR, Ed.D.
Executive Director; Culture Reframed (CR)

Pornography Disempowers

Popular media and academia increasingly ignore the reality of widespread sexual exploitation and misrepresent prostitution, including pornography, as an empowered personal choice. This presentation will reveal the roots and consequences of adapting the mainstream “sex positive” view, including increased sexualization, abuse, and commodification of women and children. Participants will enhance their ability to identify, expose, and defeat messaging that justifies and promotes the pornography industry.
The Gulliver Strategy

The Gulliver Strategy as envisioned by Culture Reframed is a comprehensive effort toward equality and health with education at its core. There is a dual need to educate parents and health professionals so that they can recognize and respond to how pornography is affecting youth, families, and communities. Culture Reframed is developing a research-driven health education platform aimed to respond to and prevent the effects of pornography at the family, community, and institutional levels.

A commitment to social justice and well-being has led Dr. Sophie Andar to initiate, develop, and facilitate youth and community development, violence prevention, and health promotion efforts in grassroots, non-profit, university, and city and state government settings over the past ten years. Diverse roles at the New Mexico Office of the State Historian, the Columbia Center for Youth Violence Prevention, and the Coalition Against Trafficking in Women have deepened her appreciation for multilevel, multisector collaborative mobilization toward sexual violence prevention. As a fellow for the Teachers College, Columbia University Research Group on Disparities in Health, Dr. Andar recently conducted the first study to examine the role of digital media, including pornography, in college sexual assault. Dr. Andar holds a doctorate in health education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

CORDELIA ANDERSON, MA
Founder, Director; Sensibilities Prevention Services

Why Pornography is a Public Health Issue

There is ample research that shows a range of harms from pornography use and exposure. Some argue that the cat is out of the bag and nothing can really be done; but that is not the case. This session explains public health as a topic, successful public health efforts, and why this approach fits with countering the harm from pornography. Several ideas for action are also identified.

Panel: Taking Care of the Care Givers: Put Your Mask on First

We need to teach the activists who are working to take care of and heal the world how to take care of themselves first. It is a hard basic lesson since they are focused on helping others. Self-care in mind, heart, body and spirit is necessary otherwise they will burn out and no one will be helped. The model is the one of an airplane emergency: when the mask comes down, put the mask on yourself first before you help others.

Mrs. Anderson has worked with a wide variety of organizations to prevent sexual harm, abuse, exploitation, and violence and promote sexual health since 1976. With an M.A. in human development, her early work involved serving as an advocate for child victims and a consulting therapist with survivors of prostitution and sexual abuse, and with perpetrators.

Mrs. Anderson also spent many years using theater for prevention education and social change. In 1992, Mrs. Anderson founded Sensibilities Prevention Services, her own consultation and training business based in Minneapolis, MN. She currently consults with Stop Porn Culture to develop materials for parents and with MN Coalition Against Sexual Assault to engage survivors as champions in prevention. She also co-hosts a national web conference series, Ending Child Sexual Abuse.

Mrs. Anderson has conducted over 2,200 training’s nationally and internationally on a range of issues surrounding child sexual abuse and prevention, the impact of pornography, and sexual harm, as well as trainings for counselors dealing with these issues.

Mrs. Anderson has appeared on several media programs as an expert including The Oprah Winfrey Show, ESPN, National Public Radio, CBS Morning News, and PBS. She was a part of WCCO-Minnesota’s PROJECT ABUSE, which won a National Emmy Award 1985. Mrs. Anderson was the lead content expert on a statewide campaign “You’re the One Who Can Make the Peace.”
Lobbying/Advocacy: The Real Nature of Politics

Being right in the sense of being correct is not sufficient to win. The winner in a political contest over time is determined by the number and the effectiveness of the activists and leaders on the respective sides, and the political technology at their disposal. This session will delve into the real nature of politics, and will teach you what you need to know to be successful in building up an army of effective activists.

Fundraising: Create a Case for Giving

This session will teach you how to maximize your revenue potential and raise funds through personal solicitation, capital campaigns, and planned giving programs. You will learn to: create a case for giving; upgrade current donors; organize successful fundraising events; and more.

Robert Arnakis is the Senior Director of Domestic and International Programs for the Leadership Institute, the nation’s premier public policy training organization. Robert oversees multiple divisions which provide political education to tens of thousands of public policy stakeholders including, candidates, elected officials, campaign staffers, and grassroots activists, annually. Robert possesses fifteen years of experience developing and implementing grassroots, campaign, fundraising, and communications strategies, and has spent the last decade working with thousands of political candidates who were seeking positions with municipal, state, and federal offices.

Teaching Your Family & Friends to Be Culture Wise and How to Redeem the Culture

Our greatest challenge now is the influence of the mass media of entertainment on our children and grandchildren. The media, for good and for ill, is the primary teacher of our youth. There’s hope though – children can be taught to be media-wise, and the entertainment industry can be turned toward the good, the true, and the beautiful. This featured seminar enables you to teach children to be media-wise, helps you understand the wide influence of the mass media, and shows you how to redeem the industry.

Dr. Ted Baehr is Chairman of Good News Communications, Inc. and publisher of MOVIEGUIDE®, as well as a noted critic, educator, and lecturer. His life’s purpose is to educate audiences on how to use discernment in selecting their entertainment. Ted has written numerous books. He was president of the organization that produced the CBS television version of The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, Witch and the Wardrobe, boasting 37 million viewers and winning an Emmy Award. Ted produces at least 430 radio and television programs every year. He produced hundreds of programs for PBS television. He presents the Report to the Entertainment Industry every year at the Annual MOVIEGUIDE® Faith & Values Awards Gala. He graduated with high distinction as a Rufus Choate Scholar from Dartmouth College, received his Juris Doctor from New York University School of Law, completed his seminary at the Institute of Theology at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and received his Doctor of Humanities (HHD) from Belhaven University.
CHURCH PROGRAMS:
Members of the LDS Church believe that the family is ordained of God and that God places great value on each individual. As such, the church produces several products and services designed to help in the fight against pornography use, sexualized media, addictions, abuse, and their effects on individuals and families.

OvercomingPornography.org hosts hundreds of resources to help those who struggle with pornography addiction, as well as resources to help their spouses and families.

AddictionRecovery.lds.org hosts resources to support over 1700 weekly addiction recovery and spouse support groups worldwide, with healing based on the 12 Steps and other principles.

MinisteringResources.lds.org provides resources intended to guide leaders of more than 30,000 church congregations worldwide on topics such as abuse, addiction, finances, employment, pornography, single expectant parents, missionary service, same-sex attraction, and caregivers.

Howard Bangerter is a father of 6 and has served more than 30 years as a lay leader in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, working daily with young men and young women. He has seen the devastating effects of pornography in the lives and families of youth and adults, but has also witnessed the wonderful effects of recovery through the healing power of Jesus Christ and His Atonement. For the past several years, Howard has worked as product manager for OvercomingPornography.org, AddictionRecovery.lds.org, and MinisteringResources.lds.org. These efforts not only help affected individuals heal and recover, but also strengthen parents and families in mitigating and reducing the damage caused by exposure to pornography. Howard holds a BS in geology and an MBA from Brigham Young University.

Freedom Stickers: Declaring Hope in Bathroom Stalls

Research shows that often the only place a victim of human trafficking is alone is inside a bathroom stall. Belles developed Freedom Stickers, which enable victims to text or call from inside the bathroom stall for help. Oregon legislators took notice and passed HB 3143, which sends these stickers to every business with a liquor license upon renewal. Momentum is picking up in this new program to distribute these stickers nationwide.

Nita Belles is an author, speaker, and anti-human trafficking crusader who has worked from victim rescue to restoration and with top law enforcement, government officials, social services, and in the medical and faith communities. She brings to the table a deep understanding of trafficking with heartfelt compassion, commitment to bring justice to perpetrators and a determination to link arms with other abolitionists to end modern slavery.

Her award winning book, In Our Backyard, has raised awareness for many thousands. She is often interviewed by media as an expert on human trafficking and her work has been featured by CNN, Fox Files, USA Today, and Huffington Post among others. Some of her projects include anti-trafficking efforts surrounding six Super Bowls, legislative efforts in multiple states, and the Freedom Sticker Initiative. She has an enthusiasm for life and is known as a powerful motivational speaker and trainer in the anti-trafficking movement able to impact any group to which she has the opportunity to present.

Regulating Trafficking Entry Points: Effective Restrictions on Strip Clubs and Massage Parlors

According to Jada Pinkett Smith, who with CNN recently released “Children for Sale: The Fight to End Human Trafficking,” strip clubs are breeding grounds for sex trafficking. But sex businesses such as nude clubs and massage parlors can be strictly regulated to prevent the negative secondary effects—including trafficking—that they bring to a community. Hear proven strategies from one who has successfully litigated against the sex industry in more than 20 states.

Scott D. Bergthold has a national practice litigating against sexually oriented businesses. He has drafted restrictions enacted by hundreds of communities that are designed to prevent sexual trafficking and exploitation, including regulations requiring age verification, licensing, and background checks, as well as conduct restrictions designed to prevent paid sexual contact and prostitution in strip clubs’ so-called “VIP rooms.” Mr. Bergthold is also the author of Community Defense Acts (CDAs) passed by the state legislatures of Ohio and Missouri. These comprehensive, statewide restrictions give communities effective tools and resources to help prevent trafficking at the local level.

Why Accountability is a Good Idea and How We Screw it Up

Having an accountability relationship is a great idea for just about anybody, but most people make a mess of it. This session will help you teach others how to do accountability relationships well and avoid the pitfalls and landmines. You’ll hear stories, some funny and some pointed, that illustrate the ups and downs of peer-to-peer accountability, and you’ll walk away with tools to help others use peer-to-peer accountability to achieve their goals. This presentation focuses on using accountability to avoid pornography and acting out sexually, but the principles serve a broad set of needs.

Sam Black is an Internet Safety Consultant, a manager at Covenant Eyes, and the author of “The Porn Circuit: Understand Your Brain and Break Porn Habits in 90 Days.” He joined the Covenant Eyes team in 2007 after 18 years as a journalist, serving as a reporter and editor for newspapers and magazines in six states. He has been married for 20 years and is a father of two.

VEDNITA CARTER
Founder & Executive Director; Breaking Free

Best Practices Working with Survivors of Sexual Exploitation

In this presentation, the facilitator will explore the most effective policies and procedures for providing trauma-informed, victim-centered care to women and girls who have been victims of sexual exploitation. Using these best practices, advocates and non-profits will be able to reduce secondary victimization and minimize re-traumatization while ensuring that services provided are specific to and, ultimately, helpful for victims of exploitation.

Vednita has dedicated her life to advocating for victims of prostitution. She is an author, sought-after speaker and trainer, and an award-winning pioneer in the abolitionist movement. She has extensive experience in developing and planning programs for sex trafficked women and girls, and was awarded the Norma Hotaling Award for her lifelong service to victims of sex trafficking. In 1998 Vednita was appointed to the Female Offenders Task Force by the Commissioner of Corrections, and she received an Outstanding Community Service award from Minnesota Women of Color for her work. She is a consultant to the United States Department of Justice, a trainer to the FBI, and has been invited to speak at the United Nations on the topic of prostitution and its impact on African American women.

Recently, Vednita was elected to serve as vice president of the board for the Coalition Against Trafficking in Women and Children (CATW). Vednita was awarded the prestigious Path Breaker Award from Shared Hope International for her tireless efforts to reduce the demand for commercial sex. In 2014, Vednita attended President Obama’s State of Union address as the guest of Representative Erik Paulsen and in March was named a CNN Hero.

Ron deHaas
CEO; Covenant Eyes, Inc.

A Culture of Accountability - Shaping Behavior with Technology

Presentation Description: Examples demonstrate how accountability works on the Internet to overcome the secret darkness of pornography and sexual exploitation in our culture. As leaders, we must shape behavior using technology. We are leaders, we must go first — the speed of the leader is the speed of the pack.

Mr. DeHaas started Covenant Eyes in 2000 with a passion to help families protect their children from the dark side of the Internet. After losing one family (wife and two children) in 1992 to a car accident, he wasn’t about to lose another family to pornography. Now, 15 years later, hundreds of thousands of families have benefited from true accountability and relationship-building tools that encourage trust on the Internet. Thousands of young adults who were raised with Covenant Eyes Accountability give testimony to how that protection has carried into their adult lives. Mr. DeHaas is a Ph.D. Candidate from the University of Michigan, and is also Director of Nehemiah Ministries, a retreat and counseling center for clergy and missionaries.

DAWN HAWKINS
Vice President and Executive Director; National Center on Sexual Exploitation; Director, Coalition to End Sexual Exploitation

Opposing the Status Quo: Changing Policies that Exploit

We must hold government, businesses, and opinion makers accountable for policies that facilitate sexual exploitation. In recent years, as more and more understand the seamless connections between all forms of exploitation, major corporations are changing their minds about these issues and are putting dignity above profits. As this is a major focus for the National Center on Sexual Exploitation and this Coalition, Dawn Hawkins will present some strategies and ideas for how to continue this momentum.

Dawn Hawkins is a passionate defender of human rights who has dedicated her life to fighting against societal harms that threaten the dignity of others. As Executive Director of National Center on Sexual Exploitation (NCOSE), Mrs. Hawkins has developed a national strategy uniting conservative, women’s rights, child advocacy and religious groups, including a bipartisan political leadership, to work together raising awareness of the pandemic of harm from pornography. Her initiatives have lead to sweeping policy changes of policies that foster exploitation for targets such as Google, Verizon and the Department of Defense. Through her leadership, NCOSE has grown a network reaching hundreds of thousands of people all over the world. Mrs. Hawkins has appeared on many local and national television programs, including Fox & Friends, CNN and Good Morning America. She regularly authors articles and speaks around the country addressing the harms of pornography and all forms of sexual exploitation and what can be done to curb the growing public health crisis resulting from pornography.

Cosmo Harms Minors

Cosmopolitan Magazine contains pornography. There is much that can be done to curb this material from being right in front of children.

Victoria Hearst is the daughter of Randolph A. Hearst and granddaughter of media legend William Randolph Hearst. Miss Hearst is spearheading a campaign called “COSMO Harms Minors” (cosmoharmsminors.com). COSMO is the nickname for Cosmopolitan Magazine, published by her family’s company, the Hearst Corporation. COSMO’s content is sexually explicit and currently available for minors to purchase. Victoria has partnered with the National Center On Sexual Exploitation to have the magazine labeled “Adult Material – 18 Years and Older”, and sold only to adults.

MELISSA HENSON
Director of Grassroots Advocacy and Education; Parents Television Council

Sexualized Media: A Risk Factor For Sexual Exploitation

This presentation will show that the problem is bigger than pornography – mainstream media and entertainment consumed by young audiences can prime girls for exploitation and teach boys to devalue girls. Melissa will explore the latest research on the type of media distributed through mainstream outlets and the impact this has on the development of youth today.
As Director of Grassroots Education and Advocacy for the Parents Television Council (PTC), Melissa Henson directs a national network of PTC volunteers and trains local grassroots chapter leaders across the country. Ms. Henson also directs the organization’s Advertiser Accountability Campaign, which encourages companies to sponsor family-friendly entertainment. Ms. Henson is a noted expert on entertainment industry trends and the how the impact of entertainment affects children and the American popular culture at large.

Kristyn Komarnicki is ESA’s director of communications. She edited PRISM Magazine for 15 years, and she continues to curate content for the ESA website, which means she gets to tell lots of wonderful stories. She delights in discovering and sharing the (extra)ordinary heroes and ministries we profile, and she enjoys the creative challenges of pulling together compelling content and nurturing young writers. Passionate about relational wholeness, she writes and speaks about both sexual justice and sexual exploitation. In 2011, she won Christian for Biblical Equality’s Micah Award, which “honors those who exhibit courage, creativity, and tenacity in opposing abuse and advancing justice for women and children in Christ’s name.” Helping Christians understand that pornography is hate speech and that it is directly linked to human trafficking is a particular concern of hers.

RICHARD LAND, Ph.D.
President; Southern Evangelical Seminary

The Role of the Church in Overcoming Pornography

The church has a compelling mandate from Jesus to be salt and light in society (Matt. 5:13-16). There is no issue more important for Christians to address and equip their people to defend themselves against than the tidal wave of spiritual and emotional toxic waste known as internet pornography. How churches and Christians can, must, and are making a difference.

Dr. Richard Land (Dr. Phil., Oxford University, England; Th.M., New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary; B.A. (magna cum laude) Princeton,) is president of Southern Evangelical Seminary. In addition, Dr. Land teaches courses at the seminary. Prior to becoming president of Southern Evangelical Seminary, Dr. Land served for 25 years as the President of The Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission, the Southern Baptist Convention’s official entity assigned to address... social, moral, and ethical concerns, with particular attention to their impact on American families and their faith. Dr. Land is a native Houstonian. His record as a pro-family advocate is capped by his proudest accomplishment—his over 44-year-marriage to his wife Dr. Rebekah Land (a psychotherapist in private practice) and his personal investment with her in the lives of their three adult children, Jennifer, Richard, Jr., and Rachel.

MARY ANNE LAYDEN, Ph.D.

Panel: Taking Care of the Care Givers: Put Your Mask on First

We need to teach the activists who are working to take care of and heal the world how to take care of themselves first. It is a hard basic lesson since they are focused on helping others. Self-care in mind, heart, body and spirit is necessary otherwise they will burn out and no one will be helped. The model is the one of an airplane emergency: when the mask comes down, put the mask on yourself first before you help others.

Healing Sexual and Pornography Addiction

Those who struggle with sexual and pornography addiction need to know there is help and healing. The first step is for the addict to know they have a problem. In a pornified world, it is challenging to identify pornography addiction as a problem when so many are doing it. Then there are steps to end damaging behaviors and attitudes and increase healthy behaviors and attitudes. Each aspect is important for recovery.

Mary Anne Layden, Ph D is a psychotherapist and Director of Education at the Center for Cognitive Therapy at the University of Pennsylvania. She is the Director of the Sexual Trauma and Psychopathology Program. She specializes in the treatment of sexual violence victims and perpetrators as well as sex addicts and those engaged in the sexual exploitation industry (pornography, stripping, prostitution, and sex trafficking). She conducts research examining the connection between the sexual exploitation industry, sexual violence, and sexual pathology.

TRAYLOR AND MELODY LOVVORN
Founders, Route1520, LLC

Our Divorce Did Not Work Out

Melody and Traylor share their painful yet redemptive journey through pornography and sexual brokenness…a journey that includes divorce and a miraculous reconciliation that led to their remarriage after six long years of divorce. Melody and Traylor will relate their individual experiences as a struggler and a spouse of one who struggles, as well as offer hope to couples that are currently facing the devastation caused by pornography and/or infidelity.

Melody uncovered her husband’s secret addiction to pornography and sex in 2000 and has lived through the nightmare of having her family torn apart when her children were 6, 4, 2, and 8 months. After walking her own path of recovery for over 6 years, Melody and her ex-husband Tray were remarried in 2008. Along with Tray, Melody spends much of her time ministering to others who are currently living through the pain and trauma of sex and porn addiction. She is also passionate about creating awareness and education on how to live responsibly in our digital world and the relationship between pornography and sex trafficking.

A former pastor, Traylor was married for 11 years before his secret struggle with pornography and sexual addiction ripped his family apart, leaving his wife and 4 children to try to figure out what had happened to Daddy. After 6 years of divorce, God miraculously restored and reconciled his family and he was remarried to his ex-wife Melody in 2008.
Traylor co-founded Route1520 in 2010 with Melody to address the growing epidemic of pornography and other forms of sexual brokenness within the church. Traylor and Melody co-host a weekly podcast called Undone Redone, facilitate weekly recovery groups for men and women, and spend much of their time coaching and encouraging those who have been impacted by sexual brokenness.

Policy and Survivor Advocate

Survivor Speaks Up: What’s Porn Got to Do With It?

A journey of overcoming and triumph, Anna will share her unique experience of being sexually trafficked into performing pornography while in high school.

A powerful international speaker, Anna lectured on child trafficking law at the University of Malta. She also served as a guest speaker at the Code Red Conference for the Cross Cultural International Foundation of Malta. As a policy advocate Anna has worked on both international and national policy. Anna gave her personal testimony at the North Carolina General Assembly leading to the passing of the Safe Harbor Act. Anna’s testimony has been televised internationally on shows such as Univision’s Primer Impacto. Anna has also completed speaking tours in California and New York. Anna’s fashion line Anna Malika Designs launched spring 2015 during New York Fashion Week. Her clothing collection “Freedom is the New Beautiful” are made by survivors and the profits go to aftercare services. Anna has also interned for the National Center on Sexual Exploitation in the fall of 2014. After graduating a restoration program Mercy Ministries in 2012, Anna is continuing her education at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro studying Criminology and Sociology and plans to graduate spring 2015. Anna is grateful to use her experience of being sexually trafficked to help others, but most of all she is simply glad to be FREE!

SAM MEIER
My House Initiative; Archdiocese of Kansas City in KS

Equipping Church Leaders to Address Pornography from the Pulpit

In 2015, Archbishop Naumann asked all priests in NE Kansas to show a short video about protecting families from pornography during Mass, preach about pornography, and provide practical handouts and resources for parents. The My House video includes inspiring footage from Matthew Kelly, and is available for other dioceses and groups to adapt and customize. We pray that many families will be protected, and the video and resources are also available in Spanish.

Sam received a BA in Psychology from the University of Dallas, and an MA in Counseling from the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs. Since 2007, Sam has worked at the Archdiocese of Kansas City in Kansas with the My House Initiative - an archdiocesan program for protecting families and marriages from pornography. Sam and his wife Beth have given numerous local and national presentations, and have been interviewed by EWTN’s Life on the Rock, Our Sunday Visitor and the National Catholic Register. Sam and Beth have three young children. They enjoy college basketball, outdoor sports, and time with their family.

BENJAMIN NOLOT
CEO & Founder; Exodus Cry

The Making of a Sex Buyer

During the course of filming Nefarious: Merchant of Souls I encountered vast numbers of men around the world lining up to rent women for sex. It occurred to me that these men didn’t wake up one day and decide to engage in this illicit activity, so I began a journey to learn for myself what was fueling so many men to pay for sex. I interviewed dozens of John’s and have compiled my research into this presentation on The Making of a Sex Buyer to share my findings.

Benjamin Nolot is the Founder and President of Exodus Cry and Producer/Writer/Director of the Nefarious documentary trilogy. Exodus Cry is an international anti-trafficking organization committed to abolishing modern-day slavery and assisting the victims of human trafficking through rescue, rehabilitation, and reintegration into society. Nefarious is a series of 3 documentaries that expose the undercurrent of injustice beneath the global sex trade.

Benjamin devotes his time to abolition work for the ending of slavery and the exploitation of the vulnerable. His greatest passion in life is to love God and see His creation set free from the tyranny of oppression. He resides in Kansas City with his wife Lauren, their son Judah and their daughter Jovienne.

CLAY OLSEN
Co-Founder and CEO; Fight The New Drug

A Youthful Perspective on Change

A public health approach to the topic of pornography and sexual exploitation is not only the most effective way to address this issue globally, but it is the only way. Young people from all walks of life and from all over the world are craving knowledge and understanding around this subject and are rallying behind a movement for social change. This presentation will talk about what the youth are saying what we can learn from them.
Getting the Youth On Board

Today’s youth are exposed to pornography and other forms of sexual exploitation more than any other generation in the history of the world. They are inundated with messages that glorify and normalize pornography. Today’s youth are also more driven by positive social change than any other generation before them. This presentation will explore ways to capitalize on youth energy and passion to help change the conversation.

For over a year Fight the New Drug has been working on a new 3 part documentary series called Brain. Heart. World. that will be a powerful, engaging, and relatable tool to educate youth on the harmful effects of pornography. Episode 1 will be completed at the end of 2015. Come watch an exclusive trailer, short teaser, and briefly discuss what’s next.

Clay Olsen is a creative and passionate filmmaker, marketer, public speaker, author, and social entrepreneur. In 2008 he co-founded Fight the New Drug (fightthenewdrug.org), a youth activist movement dedicated to raising awareness on the harmful effects of pornography through science, facts, and personal accounts. Since then they’ve been featured on ABC Nightline, ABC News, CNN, Al Jazeera, USA Today, NPR, the Blaze, the Dr. Drew Show, and more. Clay has personally presented to hundreds of schools and tens of thousands of teens all over the country as well as tens of thousands of parents and adults on this subject. In February of 2013, he founded and lead the development of an online recovery program called Fortify (fortifyprogram.org), to help individuals, particularly youth, overcome their struggle with pornography that has already impacted over 25,000 users in over 100 countries.

Popular Culture and the Sexual Commodification of the Male Body: A New Challenge

Over the last several decades popular culture has worked to normalize the widespread sexual objectification of men. This session explores the impact of this development on boys and young men; the relationship between male and female sexual objectification; the growth in female consumption of pornography; and the nexus between the objectification of men and male pornography usage.

Joseph Prud’homme is a professor of Political Science and the Director of the Institute for the Study of Religion, Politics, and Culture at Washington College. He received his doctorate from Princeton University, where he studied in the Interdepartmental Program in Political Philosophy, with additional specialization in legal and constitutional thought. He was awarded a Fellowship at Harvard University, where he studied at the Harvard Law School and served as a member of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.
Professor Prud’homme works in the areas of political philosophy, legal theory, intellectual history, and conceptual and historical approaches to the study of religion and political and cultural affairs. He has published numerous works in these fields, including the forthcoming book, Religion and Politics in America from the Colonial Period to the Civil War.

TIMOTHY M. RARICK, Ph.D.
Professor; Brigham Young University – Idaho & United Families International

Fathers: The Absent Super Heroes in Battling Sexual Exploitation

Many countries, including the United States, are experiencing an epidemic of fatherlessness. Dads provide a unique contribution to the social, emotional, and sexual development of his daughters. This presentation will explore what daughters gain from an involved father—not the least of which is a respect for the body, a healthy view of intimacy and sexuality, and wholesome relationships with men. Dads can fight sexual exploitation and pornography in a way that few can. It’s time we get these super heroes to step up!

Dr. Timothy Rarick is a faculty member in the Department of Home and Family at BYU-Idaho. He has taught courses at Kansas State University and BYU-Idaho such as Lifespan Human Development, Parenting, and Child & Family Advocacy to name a few. Dr. Rarick has conducted research studies with emerging adults (18-25 year olds) regarding their life-goal pursuits, life satisfaction, and views on marriage and family. Tim also serves on the Advisory Board for United Families International—a pro-family organization that promotes the family through public policy and research. He was invited this year to serve on the organizing committee for the World Congress of Families. Dr. Rarick has spoken at numerous venues and conferences regarding children and families in the United States, Canada, and China, and twice at the United Nations in New York City. Tim earned a master’s and doctorate degree in Marriage, Family, & Human Development from Kansas State University. He and his wife, Jodi, have been married for 15 years and have one son and three daughters. He enjoys swimming, playing basketball, tennis, the guitar and the piano. He is also a sucker for banana milkshakes.

JUDITH REISMAN, Ph.D.
Visiting Professor of Law; Liberty Center for Child Protection, Liberty School of Law

History Breakout: “The Scientific History and Evolution of the Global Child Abuse Pandemic”

Judith Reisman, Ph.D. is director of the Liberty Center for Child Protection and Research Professor at Liberty University School of Law. Dr. Reisman is an internationally recognized expert on the work of Dr. Alfred Kinsey’s criminal child abuse protocol and data, and its effects on the family and culture, including the global pandemic of pornography. Reisman’s comprehensive analysis of Images of Children, Crime & Violence in Playboy, Penthouse & Hustler, between 1986 and 1990 as a consultant to the United States Department of Justice, Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention provides empirical evidence of child pornography in mainstream “men’s magazines” which has mutated into the internet pornography of today. She has provided reports and testimony as an expert witness in cases worldwide, including most recently in South Africa, Jamaica, and Croatia. In 1994, she won a libel lawsuit brought against her by Playboy magazine in the Netherlands based upon her claims that Playboy produced child pornography, which they continue to do to this very day.

Dr. Reisman’s particular area of expertise is the scientific history and evolution of the global child abuse pandemic. She has served as an expert in Supreme Court briefs in pornography cases, and also in child custody cases in which parental use of pornography has been an issue, and is the author of numerous books and articles on these issues.
Demanding Justice

Demand— the collective purchasing decisions of buyers of sex acts— drive sex trafficking markets. This session will present research conducted by Shared Hope International and Arizona State University on the criminal enforcement outcomes of arrested buyers of sex with children and the campaign designed to motivate communities to raise the priority of demand prosecution as a means of deterrence.

Eliza Reock is the Director of Programs at Shared Hope International where she manages the funding and development of restoration programs for commercial sexual exploitation survivors, monitors and evaluates current restoration grant partners and works to identify leading field techniques to develop direct service provision systems across the nation. She spearheaded the development of Shared Hope’s JuST Response initiative which seeks to identify and promote leading policies and protocols to connect youth who have experienced trafficking to appropriate services, and manages the ongoing facilitation of Shared Hope’s Restorative Services Working Group, a network of survivors and direct service providers. She provides critical policy support to Shared Hope in the areas of establishing protections against Internet facilitation of child sex trafficking, anti-demand efforts and trauma-informed service development, and has trained over 3,000 service providers, law enforcement, state agency leaders and other professionals. Prior to joining the Shared Hope team she served as the Executive Director of a private foundation where she managed the strategic implementation of funding targeted towards combating social injustice including the development of a nationally replicated campaign to stop the prostitution in Georgia, A Future. Not A Past. Eliza has served in advisory and committee roles and has provided congressional briefings at both the state and national level. She holds a degree in biology and is a proud graduate of the College of Charleston in South Carolina.

Survivor of Child Sex Trafficking, Porn, & Adult Systems of Prostitution

Robin’s experiences & vulnerabilities that groomed her to be exploited as a child and as an adult will be described. No person chooses to sell their flesh. This is an issue of sexism, exploitation of vulnerable populations, and slavery. The road to recovery for survivors is long, but having our voices heard is a huge step in that recovery and social change.

Robin Rivera is a soul on fire, a warrior of light. She obtained her B.A. degree in social welfare from the University of California, Berkeley, while she served as a scholar and advocate for commercially sexually exploited children in the San Francisco bay area. Robin is the recipient of numerous awards for her advocacy, leadership, and community service. This mother, surfer, and yogini is a resilient survivor of sexual exploitation beginning at the age of 15. She possesses a deep commitment to inspiring people to take their power back, heal themselves, and to engage in truth telling.
For the past three years, Geoffrey Rogers has been dedicated to the production of “Blind Eyes Opened”, a nationwide Christian documentary about the truth of sex trafficking in America. The film is scheduled for national release in theaters throughout the country in early 2016. Mr. Rogers will show excerpts from the film and discuss his perspectives about how sex trafficking is a supply answer to a demand problem.

Geoffrey Rogers is President and Founder of the Ships of Tarshish. As a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Geoff rose quickly to the rank of Vice President at IBM and French software giant, Dassault Systemes, in his corporate career. While at IBM, he was the recipient of numerous distinctive awards, including enlistment into the exclusive “Next-Gen” program, which identified and developed future senior leaders of the company. Mr. Rogers left the corporate world in 2010 and is now committed to producing film and television content that addresses critical social issues from a Christian perspective. Currently in production is “Blind Eyes Opened”, a national Christian documentary about the truth of sex trafficking in America. The film is to be released in theaters throughout the country in early 2016. Geoff also heads the Florida Dream Center as its Executive Director, focused on fighting human trafficking, homelessness, poverty and addiction throughout the state of Florida. Geoff and his wife Kerri live in Tampa, FL, where they enjoy spending time with their three amazing boys.

We, as leaders have a responsibility to help those within our sphere of influence to understand the dangers of online pornography and sexualized media. We can teach those in our communities and ministries the far-reaching effects of the problem of pornography as a public health issue. We teach them the ways porn is effecting our children, couples and society.

KEVIN SKINNER, Ph.D
Co-founder; Bloom & Addo Recovery

The Science of Betrayal Trauma

Few experiences create more pain and hurt than sexual infidelity (whether virtual or physical). For the victimized spouse, sexual infidelity can create such intense emotions that the memories and trauma may remain for months or even years later. Dr. Kevin Skinner, LMFT, CSAT, looks into the science behind betrayal and why trauma is a natural response.

As a licensed marriage and family therapist, Dr. Skinner has been helping families for 18 years. He co-founded Bloom because of his vision to use technology to bless the lives of as many people as possible. Bloom is committed to creating a safe environment where people can heal. Dr. Skinner’s passion is helping people change their lives. He hopes to provide as much help as possible to those who are struggling with addiction by using a variety of mediums. Dr. Skinner has authored the best-selling book Treating Pornography Addiction, and created multiple audio series regarding pornography addiction and relationship intimacy.

EDWARD SMART
Director; Prevention & Rehabilitation of Operation Underground Railroad (OUR) and President; The Surviving Parents Coalition

Where Do Some Pornographers End Up??

How pornography lead Brian David Mitchell to take the next step beyond fantasy to reality. Still one wasn’t enough. How pornography fuels the demand for trafficking and one step further.

Edward Smart, Child Advocate, Director of prevention and rehabilitation for Operation Underground Railroad (OUR), President of the Surviving Parents Coalition (SPC). Ed Smart is an internationally recognized advocate for children’s safety with focus on prevention, more recently in the area of trafficking. His advocacy began as a result of the abduction and miraculous return of his daughter Elizabeth from their home in Salt Lake City Utah in 2002. He also advocates for the publics understanding of the “Invisible Chain” people don’t understand the manipulation, coercion, and guilt used to enslave these innocent victims.

Ed along with other children’s safety advocates tirelessly and successfully lobbied Congress and the Senate seeking passage of the National Amber Alert plan, the Adam Walsh Act, The Protect our children Act of 2008, and is currently working cooperatively with other organizations on state felony arrestee DNA legislation. He believes that “It is more important than ever to empower our children to know they have choices and options to be ‘prepared not scared’ in the world we live in today.” Ed received his Bachelor Degree in Finance and MBA from George Washington University. He and his wife Lois are parents of six children and currently reside in Salt Lake City.

MELEA STEPHENS, LPC, MMFT
Marriage and Family Therapist and Director; Alabama Coalition to End Sexual Exploitation (ALACESE)

Damaged From Within: How Pornography Violates Families

Whether it is the young child accidentally exposed to unwanted images, the tween who is secretly snap-chatting nude photos, the husband who feels chronically dissatisfied and depressed due to his pornography “habit”, or the wife who is having a 50 Shades of Grey inspired extramarital affair, the demoralizing effects of pornography quickly erode trust and intimacy among family members. We will discuss the trending challenges and how families work to overcome and repair their homes.

Melea Stephens has had an unshakable interest in family dynamics and solidarity since she was 12 years old. Melea received her B.A. in Human Development and Family Studies from Samford University and graduated from the Institute for Family Studies in Colorado Springs. She later completed her M.A. in Marriage and Family Therapy from Abilene Christian University in Abilene, TX. Melea enjoys working therapeutically with clients of all ages and issues, but she is especially happy counseling couples for the purposes of strengthening intimacy. Melea works at Wellspring Christian Clinic and resides with her husband, son, and daughter in Birmingham, Alabama.

LISA L. THOMPSON
Director of Education and Outreach; National Center on Sexual Exploitation

Orchestrated Destruction: Pornography as a Script for Sexual Violence

Pornography is a powerful teacher; its users consume potent themes, which change attitudes and foster sexually violent behaviors. As such pornography orchestrates the dehumanization the destruction of both the user and the consumed.

Lisa L. Thompson is the Director of Education and Outreach for the National Center on Sexual Exploitation where she oversees NCOSE’s strategic planning for increased public understanding of sexual exploitation related issues. Lisa conducts analysis, develops research initiatives, and liaises with a wide-range of public officials, non-profit organizations, institutions of higher learning, and activists to generate collaborative action to combat sexual exploitation especially as pertains to the harms of pornography, stripping, prostitution, and sexual trafficking. Lisa joined NCOSE following nearly two years with World Hope International (WHI), where as its Director of Anti-Trafficking, she directed programs in Azerbaijan, Cambodia, Liberia and Sierra Leone. Lisa also served for more than 12 years as the Liaison for the Abolition of Sexual Trafficking for The Salvation Army USA National Headquarters. She is also a contributing author to Hands that Heal: International Curriculum for Caregivers of Trafficking Survivors, as well as the book Global Perspectives on Prostitution and Sex Trafficking: Europe Latin America, North America, and Global in which she contributed chapters discussing the use of torture by pimps, as well as the policy conflicts between sex trafficking abolitionists and HIV/AIDS advocates.

Patrick Trueman is a former Chief of the Child Exploitation and Obscenity Section, Criminal Division, U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. from 1988 to 1993. While there, he supervised the prosecution of child sex crimes, child pornography, and obscenity. He managed an office of twenty of prosecutors and support staff, and worked with the nation’s ninety-three United States Attorneys to initiate and coordinate federal prosecutions. Among his duties at MIM, Mr. Trueman directs the War on Illegal Pornography, a national coalition effort involving dozens of national, state and local groups that are educating the American public on the great harms of pornography and calling for vigorous enforcement of federal laws against illegal pornography.

DR. ALBERTUS VAN EEDEN, MBChB
CEO, Doctors for Life International

Victories in South Africa’s Courts

Dr. van Eeden has addressed a number of audiences in South Africa and Europe on the topic “Pornography and the Brain”. He also coordinated a group of international and national experts to testify against the licensing of what would have been the first three porn channels on national TV in South Africa. Doctors for Life International and two other organizations were successful and StarSat TV whose material would have been provided by Playboy SA lost the case with costs. StarSat TV asked for leave to appeal their request, but was turned down twice.
