

Cover Page: National Center on Sexual Exploitation's Policy on Sharing Proof

WARNING: The material in this document may contain graphic text, blurred images, and survivor quotes that may trigger the viewer.

Why do we post proof publicly?

NCOSE researchers have collected this proof as evidence of the material that is made, contained, and/or distributed by the corporations and institutions NCOSE is confronting.

Proof is shared with corporate executives, shareholders, and/or board members, as well as with policymakers, law enforcement, journalists, and the general public to give witness to the sexual exploitation and abuse that is often rampant, yet sometimes hidden, on these platforms.

Why do you blur out images, including faces, if they're publicly available?

While we believe it is important to provide ample evidence of wrong-doing to support our claims and inspire change, we also strongly believe that no one – neither adult, nor child – should be exposed to the type of material our researchers collect: either for their own well-being, or out of respect for those being exploited. It is for this reason we pixelate/blur/block not only nudity or sexually graphic content, but also the faces of those being exploited.

We also want to limit access to this material (unfortunately, a luxury not afforded to children and adults using many of the platforms and products made by these companies). Therefore, we add several layers before someone can access the proof, and also don't include all the proof that we have obtained. If someone feels they need to see more evidence to understand the extent of the problem or the type of exploitation that is happening, they may request it of NCOSE by writing to public@ncose.com.

Did you receive people's permission to post?

Any personal testimony shared to NCOSE directly is posted only with the affected parties approval.

For material that is publicly available, we do not seek permission to post. However, we redact names and usernames of survivors from articles, social media, etc. even when publicly available. To read more about our commitment to ethical engagement with survivors, please go here. We do not redact names or usernames of exploiters who have posted publicly.

Disclaimer: While we do collect information on those who request access to more proof, that information will only be used for our own, internal analysis. It will not be distributed, shared, or posted publicly or with outside parties.

Pornography and Sexually Explicit Visual Content Easily Found

Spotify’s Platform Rules prohibits “sexually explicit content,” which they say “includes but may not be limited to pornography or visual depictions of genitalia or nudity presented for the purpose of sexual gratification.” However, despite these policies, such content is easily found on Spotify.

Inexplicably, Spotify also surfaces designated children’s content next to results for pornography (next page).

Newspapers and influencers have also been raising concerns about the pornographic content on Spotify, in thumbnails as well as in audio content.

Inadequate “Explicit Content Filter”

Spotify offers an “explicit content filter” which they assure parents will block “content which may not be appropriate for teens.”

Content which is blocked by the filter is marked with an “E” as shown below.

However, NCOSE researchers found that the majority of pornographic content on the platform is not marked explicit, and therefore not blocked by the filter.

For example, all but the last two of the sexually explicit thumbnails shown in the former proof section were not marked explicit.

In addition, audio pornography (recordings of sex sounds or sexually explicit stories being read aloud) is extremely prevalent on Spotify, and rarely marked explicit. Below are just a few examples:

Another serious problem with the explicit content filter is that it does not block thumbnails and descriptions from view. We have demonstrated how thumbnails can often be sexually explicit or highly inappropriate for teens, and the same is true for descriptions [WARNING: non-blurred, graphic descriptions of sexual activity]:

Parents Beware of Spotify's "family plan"

Parents need to be aware that the spotify "family plan" DOES NOT block explicit content as it claims. Innocent children just trying to listen to music can very easily and accidentally come across the audio porn and "podcasts" that spotify has on their site. All anyone has to do is type in various punctuation marks in the search bar, like two commas ",", for example.....and you're hit with all kinds of smutty crap with explicit pictures. And the family plan DOES NOT block it!!! This crap has no place on a music streaming platform.....parents need to be aware of what their kids can come across on spotify!!

FAMILY PLAN is not really for families.....PORN is not blocked!!!!PORN, PORN, PORN..DISGUSTING

Spotify is the only streaming platform that Does NOT block audio porn with their explicit content filter. Innocent young children with "family plan" accounts can easily come across, and listen to, their smutty crap audio podcasts! It's disgusting and spotify should be ashamed to continue to allow this to happen.....its been going on for years now! The FAMILY PLAN is definitely NOT protecting families.....and a lot of families are paying for this non-protection unknowingly!! Switch to amazon or apple music 🙌🙌🙌🙌🙌...they have actual filters that do block

Spotify should be 18 yrs +.....Porn not blocked by EXPLICIT CONTENT FILTER

Explicit content filter doesnt work at all! Anyone can easily come across any of their adult audio podcasts (with explicit pictures) regardless of if you are on the family plan (with content blocker on) or not. Its extremely disturbing, especially since we called the customer service number for spotify and they told us they had known about this for a while and that they were "working on it". I now see from other reviews that this has been going on for at least a couple of years now.....seriously Spotify? Oh and btw, their customer service number is a complete waste of time and they quickly switch you to a bot after a human talks with you for more than 30 seconds

This has PORN, not just PORN music, but PORN podcasts. Your iPhone content restrictions will not work on this, as the app is rated 12+.

BEWARE! This app has PORN, not just PORN MUSIC, but sexually explicit podcasts and graphic images. The iPhone app does not restrict this as it's 12+. Also, if you have the explicit content removed, when you click on something that IS explicit, the alert TELLS your child HOW TO REMOVE the explicit settings! I tell you this as a Spotify premium member too, I was so disappointed to learn how loose this was.

Be very careful - sexually explicit podcasts

An ALERT for parents!!! Sexually explicit Podcasts came up in my recommended today!!! I am totally shocked and trying to sort it out with them online - no phone number of course. We hadn't activated parent controls because we didn't think the odd lyric would be that bad but this is completely different matter. When we tried to apply controls today they kept coming off.

Porn podcasts on Spotify

Totally shocked and appalled by discovering porn podcasts are not censored by the explicit content function. Explicit content only applies to songs. What on earth are Spotify thinking??? As of November 2020 they say they will pass on my complaint. I just can't believe that a whole load of porn in podcast form is not excluded when a song with the odd profanity is.

Easily accessibly pornographic podcasts

This is an awesome music streaming app! But be warned - kids can access PORNOGROPHY in the form of SEXUALLY explicit podcasts - I'm talking threesomes, incest, affairs etc. Even if you activate the "explicit content off", these podcasts are not blocked. According to Spotify, this is because the distributor has not marked them as such. We had multiple controls on my 14 year old daughter ipad including Apple screen time content filtering, the BARK parental control app, and explicit content off within the Spotify but she still managed to listen to multiple episodes of these podcasts before I discovered their existence. I am now investigating other streaming options as there is no way to limit access to this very pornographic content.

Spotify Has a BIG Problem, Chris McKenna, Protect Young Eyes, December 1, 2022

- “Over the past 4 months, I've received multiple messages from parents about Spotify's explicit content weaknesses”
- “@spotify, you need to be better. If there's a toggle to remove explicit content, then please fulfill the promise of removing explicit content everywhere in your app (you CAN do this).”
- “Even with Spotify's limited controls in place, TONS of ridiculously explicit content is still available.”

An email to NCOSE from a parent who was dismayed to find that the explicit content filter did not block thumbnails and text, among other problems:

Spotify deserves a spot on this year's list. My daughter is 15 so I thought Spotify would be a safe app for her to listen to music. With the introduction of podcasts came the inclusion of user created content, including sexually explicit audio and images.

We have a family plan, so for her account I disabled explicit content. After disabling the feature I double checked by searching "nsfw" which would obviously include explicit rated materials. It would not allow me to play anything that was labeled explicit, however, I could view all of the describing text, pinned replies, and see the images. [emphasis added]

I attempted to report the content, but could find no option to do so. Spotify's support page states you may "Report any of the following for our teams to investigate:

Broken or incorrect content,

Infringing, illegal, or hate content".

Spotify Kids is for ages 12 and under according to the website, but this material is unsuitable for minors under 18. I will also mention all of the photos I saw in my quick search were animated. I don't know if it's a legal thing, but it is certainly unsafe and seems more geared towards kids.

It is not difficult for kids to stumble on highly sexual content on Spotify. For example, NCOSE researchers stumble on it when trying to search for songs popular with teens, such as “Boy’s a Liar,” “Eat Your Young,” and “WAP.” In some cases, the researcher only needed to search the first innocuous word in the title before being served highly sexual results. It is therefore of the utmost importance that Spotify’s explicit content filter function to a high standard, to prevent children from being exposed.

Further, content aimed at helping people overcome pornography addiction, as well as podcasts featuring interviews with survivors, were served next to real pornography. This could be triggering or re-traumatizing for people who are trying to heal from exploitation or addiction.

In addition to pornographic content, other content that is inappropriate for teens but which was sometimes not caught by the filter included content promoting pornography and prostitution websites.

Further, Spotify is used to circumvent filters on other apps. NCOSE researchers found a number of playlists like the following:

Content Promoting Sexual Violence and Abuse

Spotify's platform rules prohibit "Advocating or glorifying sexual themes related to rape, incest, or bestiality." However, NCOSE researchers were able to easily find content which normalized sexual violence, sexual abuse, and incest.

For example, we found a podcast called "The Rape Show With The #1 Rapist In The Country," which included tips on how to commit rape and how not to get caught by the authorities.

Further content normalizing or trivializing rape is shown below. The first image surfaced when researcher searched for “rap,” indicating how easy it is to come across this horrific content.

With respect to normalization of incest, below are a few examples of content NCOSE researchers found:

Child Sexual Exploitation

In January 2023, a case of an 11-year-old girl being groomed and sexually exploited on Spotify recently made news headlines. Sexual predators communicated with the young girl via playlist titles and encouraged her to upload numerous sexually explicit photos of herself as the cover image of playlists she made.

- 'The bottom of the world fell away when I found my daughter, 11, was groomed on Spotify', Mirror, 01/18/2023

Survivor-advocate Catie Reay recently released a TikTok showing evidence of grooming on Spotify, such as playlists that tag other users and ask them to send sexually explicit content of themselves.

- ⚠ PSA ⚠ for parents with minors using Spotify!!! When we say it's happening everywhere... We literally mean EVERYWHERE. TikTok, January 3, 2023

NCOSE researchers very easily found a number of suspicious Spotify profiles which may have been or be dedicated to the soliciting or sharing of nudes. In one case, we found a profile that shared an email address and tagged other users in playlists, asking them to send nudes.

Further, while gathering proof of pornography on Spotify, NCOSE researchers came across apparent child sexual abuse material (CSAM) and consequently discovered that Spotify had no clear, accessible report procedure for CSAM.

Numerous Google searches attempting to determine how to correctly CSAM/child sexual exploitation to the platform failed to turn up instructions from Spotify. Instead, the search results simply turned up Spotify podcasts that talked about child sexual abuse, and news articles about cases of child sexual exploitation on Spotify.

The image shows a Google search interface. The search bar contains the text "report child pornography on spotify". Eventually, after trying many different search queries, the first result for a query of “report content on Spotify” was a Spotify page with instructions on how to report “infringing, illegal, or hate content.” However, after trying the instructions on the CSAM, it did not work. We eventually discovered that the reporting mechanism is not available for podcasts (the majority of pornography NCOSE researchers found on Spotify was in podcast form!!)

Spotify’s Reporting Instructions:

Infringing, illegal, or hate content

Report images, playlists, or text that violates our content policies through the desktop app.

1. On the desktop app, right-click the playlist title or artist name.
2. Select Report. A form will open in your browser.
3. Complete the form and Submit.

To report offensive music or podcast content, contact us.

Researcher right clicking on a similar podcast in the desktop app (the title of the actual content is not shown, to protect the victim). No report function.

Reporting function is available for playlists, audiobooks, artists, and profiles, but not for podcasts, albums, and songs:

No report function:

Trying again, the second result for the query “report content on Spotify” finally took the NCOSE researcher to forms for reporting content. There was no category for reporting child sexual exploitation, nor any category for reporting illegal content. It was not obvious which category the researcher should report the CSAM under.

Report content on Spotify

To report offensive or explicit music content, contact us.

To report content on the Spotify service that you believe infringes your intellectual property rights or otherwise violates the law, fill out this form.

To notify Spotify of a claim relating to dangerous, deceptive, or sensitive images, visuals, playlists (image, description, or title), or other descriptive text on the Spotify service, complete the form below.

Choose the best description of the content you’re reporting.

Sexual content	>

NCOSE needed to research Spotify’s policies in depth to eventually find that the platform rules categorize “content that promotes, solicits, or facilitates child sexual abuse or exploitation” under “Dangerous content.” This was not very visible, mentioned at the very bottom of the section on Dangerous content. Further, categories of banned content on this page did not all correspond to the reporting categories, making it even more confusing for a user trying to report (reporting categories are shown in the screenshot above, platform rules categories screenshotted below).

Dangerous Content

Deceptive Content

Sensitive Content

Illegal Content

Nonetheless, because the platform rules categorized child sexual exploitation under “dangerous content,” the NCOSE researcher proceeded to report the CSAM under the category “violent or dangerous” on the report form. She was consequently dismayed to find that there was no option to add further details to her report, saying that it was CSAM. This is problematic because the Spotify team would not know that this report is of high priority to review. Further, without being able to add more details, a Spotify employee who is reviewing reports quickly may not correctly identify the nature of the concern (e.g. as the report was made about “violent or dangerous content” and the podcast was a BDSM podcast, the employee may assume the objection is to BDSM, not to a thumbnail which appeared to be child sexual abuse material).

The extent of the details it was possible to add in the report is shown below:

Ironically, the automatic message after making the report stated that Spotify “prioritize[s] reports about content that may cause harm.” Again, we wonder how Spotify is able to effectively prioritize when users cannot even properly describe or label what they are reporting!

Thanks for letting us know

We'll review your report as soon as we can.

We prioritize reports about content that may cause harm. If we determine that the content you've reported is violating Spotify's rules, we'll take appropriate action.

In addition to indisputable cases of real child sexual exploitation, NCOSE found a plethora of content which it was not clear whether real child sexual abuse was involved, but which certainly normalized and fetishized child sexual abuse.

Below is an example of an audio pornography podcast NCOSE found which depicted child sexual abuse (translation: "He's not your son anymore! When the whole barracks attends the anal preparation of her child by her supervisor")

Further, we found a number of pornography podcasts labelled with the term "DDLG" (Daddy Dom Little Girl), which is well-known among sex trafficking investigators as an indicator of potential child sexual abuse material. The term "DDLG" is also often used to refer to adults roleplaying child sexual abuse.
